

THE DEAL

“It is early morning and there is a lot to do. Somehow John is sensing much pressure in his life, yet mixed with some minute joy in his spirit. Everything is ready.

“He switches on his vap and that also seems to amplify joy as he has known it.”

‘This is going to be a great day and I know my business deals will be excellent and we will close the deal.’ John says to himself.

John runs to his car because time was limited. He sips tea which his wife made him. Going to his car he meets two people and one of them lifting the wiper to stick a leaflet there.

“Hi!” Politely John calls out.

“What is that?” He asked.

“It is a message I was sent from your Father. He is missing you?” One of them, the lady, said, looking at John to hand him the note.

The Deal

“Interesting. I thought letters are posted in the letter box or through the door”

“Sorry we couldn’t see your letter box that is why we wanted to put it on your car. And by the way my name is Chembe and my brother is Muntu.”

“Hi! Nice to meet you both, am John”

“We are from a local assembly just round the corner.” Muntu adds in.

John grabs the leaflet and goes in the car.

Chembe and Muntu go on their way.

John contemplates and reasons as to why they said your Father is missing you.

“ I didn't want to start talking with them two. I have not seen dad for nearly 20 years and how did they find him?”

This note isn’t a letter. I can see here it is saying that God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but....”

THE DEAL

“...that the world through Him might be saved.”

John reasons as to what has this thing to do with him and his father. Can those people be angels that they talked about my own father who has not been speaking to me for so many years?

Is this a new joke!

John puts the leaflet on the dash board and drives off.

Late evening on that day John couldn't be happier. The day had gone very well and the sales deal he hoped for closed positively.

“Hmm may be the Father those two angels mentioned has a hand in it”.

While at home John googles the text to check what this could be.

The bible verse comes out as John 3:16-17 Oh so this is in the bible?
